THE PROBLEM

Prediction markets are slow, and you play them alone.

You pick a side, then wait hours or months to find out. Nothing happens in between, and nobody is there with you.

Three things nobody has put together.

Speed

The quickest market you can name settles in five minutes. Nothing settles in seconds.

People

Trading is social everywhere except inside the apps, where it is a single-player screen.

Proof

Everyone posts their wins. Nobody can show the losses, so none of it can be believed.

Five minutes: Polymarket's fastest market, per CoinMarketCap

THE OPPORTUNITY

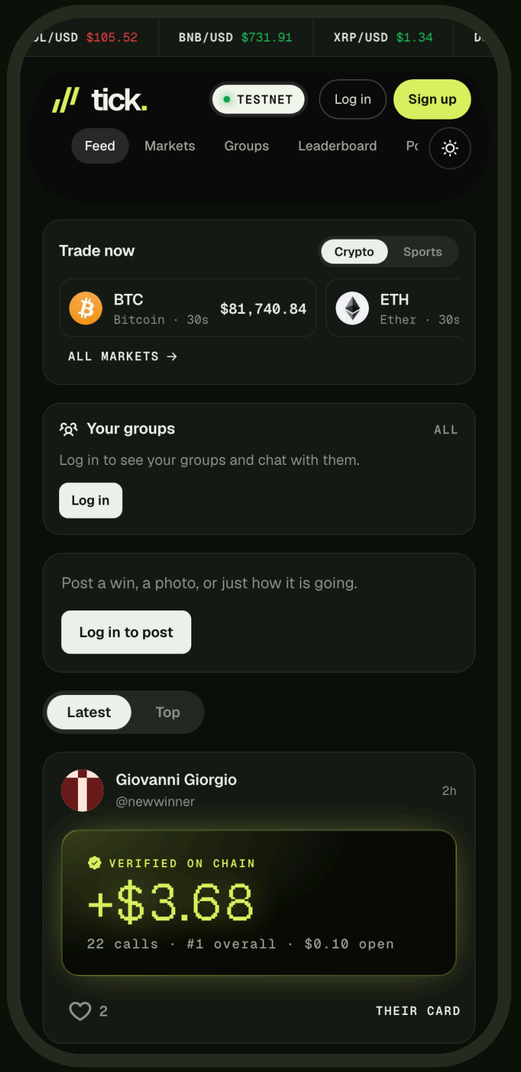

A chain fast enough finally makes a thirty-second market possible.

Settlement, staking and every social write land in seconds and cost a fraction of a cent. The market that was impossible to run is now the one people want.

WHAT TICK IS

One question. Thirty seconds.

Will this price be higher thirty seconds from now? Call it from ten cents. It settles against a published price, on chain, with nobody refereeing the result.

Compete in a group. Flex the proof.

01

Start a room

Pick the market, send the link.

02

Call it together

Everyone takes the same window.

03

Race the board

It re-sorts as each window settles.

04

Post the card

Read from the chain, so it cannot be faked.

Where this goes.

Solana	The market and social programs on a chain built for this loop, with wallet handoff on mobile.
Real money	Mainnet, and card checkout so a first deposit takes no crypto at all.
More to call	Live sport in play, and equities beyond the opening ten.
Rooms that pay	Private leagues, entry pots and a cut of the room, so a group is worth running.
